

1 Day Short Course

Biomedical Pathology Test Interpretation

Interpret the results of common pathology tests

“

As a natural health practitioner I now have the knowledge and understanding to translate complicated pathology results for my clients ”

With Pathology interpretation being regarded as an area of concern for most complementary health practitioners, this short course will provide practitioners and students with the required knowledge to effectively interact with the existing health care model.

This one day short course provides an introductory explanation of common pathology tests used in modern health practice and the accurate interpretation of the results. Developing practitioners' knowledge and allowing them to further investigate and treat according to modern diagnosis allows for a more complete and holistic approach to client care.

This short course is for Natural Health practitioners and students who want to extend and deepen their understanding of Biomedical Pathology test results to further assist their clients.

WHAT YOU WILL LEARN

Over one day participants will cover:

- Introduction to biomedical testing and the common tests conducted in modern practice
- How to analyse tests such as
 - Metabolic biochemical analysis
 - Liver function tests
 - Cholesterol studies
 - Iron Studies
- This short course will also provide an overview of the different tests of the Musculoskeletal, Gastrointestinal, Endocrine, Cardio-thoracic, reproductive and renal system.

Detailed notes and a range of sample test results are provided to all participants
